You have the right to receive a “Good Faith Estimate” explaining how much your medical care will cost.

Under the law, health care providers need to give patients who do not have insurance or who are not using insurance an estimate of the bill for medical items and services.

*You have the right to receive a Good Faith Estimate for the total expected cost of any non-emergency items or services. This includes related costs like medical tests, prescription drugs, equipment, and hospital fees.

*Make sure your health care provider gives you a Good Faith Estimate in writing. Estimated costs will be provided prior to scheduling and a written estimate at the time services begin or prior to first session if requested. Thus, you may request a Good Faith Estimate in writing before you schedule an appointment.

*If you receive a bill that is at least $400 more than your Good Faith Estimate, you can dispute the bill.

*Make sure to save a copy or picture of your Good Faith Estimate.
